Master of Teaching (Early Childhood)

Duration: 2 years full-time

COURSE

Campus: Mount Lawley Campus

Indicative fees: $14,900 AUD per semester[^]

The Master of Teaching (Early Childhood) is dedicated to producing quality graduates ready to take up employment across the early childhood education sector, including teaching children from birth to 3 years of age, pre-kindergarten, kindergarten, pre-primary and years 1-3 in a primary school.

Dealing specifically with children from birth to 8 years of age, this course focuses on the care and education of children in this age group in partnership with families and communities.

This course is built on the principle that students come to the program with strengths from a diverse range of educational and life experiences. Reflective thinking and research, with an emphasis on links from theory to practice is valued, as students develop a deep understanding of the importance of building strong, positive relationships with children, families, communities and colleagues.

Further, they are taught how to develop, implement and assess socially inclusive curricula where children are valued, respected and productively engaged in learning.

This coursework program accommodates "principles and dimensions" of excellence and is delivered through mutually beneficial partnerships between the University and individual schools and early childhood settings.

Master of Teaching (Primary)

Duration: 2 years full-time

COURSE

Campus: Mount Lawley Campus & South West Campus

Indicative fees: $14,900 AUD per semester[^]

The Master of Teaching (Primary) is dedicated to producing future teachers ready to enter the Primary education profession.

This course is built on the principle that students come to the program with strengths from a diverse range of educational and life experiences.

A distinguishing feature of the course is the opportunity to complete a formal specialisation in the Primary Education qualification. This enables students to obtain a deeper and broader level knowledge and understanding in a particular Learning Area at the graduate level, while maintaining your generalist knowledge.

The range and number of professional practice experiences are a key feature of the course. This ensures students can make the essential connection between theory and practice whilst building both professional and generic employability skills in real teaching environments.

Partnerships between the University and over 650 schools allow teaching students to gain experience in diverse settings including public, private, city and remote schools, allowing them to work with children from differing economic, social, ethnic and educational backgrounds.

Successful completion of the course presents graduates with the opportunity to gain employment as outstanding teachers equipped with the knowledge, skills and experience to make a difference to the lives of young people.

Master of Teaching (Secondary)

Duration: 2 years full-time

COURSE

Campus: Joondalup Campus, Mount Lawley Campus and South West Campus*

Indicative fees: $14,900 AUD per semester[^]

*Students may be required to attend multiple campuses depending on their selected specialisation combination.

The Master of Teaching (Secondary) is a dynamic course dedicated to preparing future teachers for the Secondary Education profession.

Designed specifically to develop professional knowledge in both theory and essential practice within real classrooms, graduates are provided with all the necessary tools to become successful and confident teachers.

This coursework program accommodates "principles and dimensions" of excellence and is delivered through mutually beneficial partnerships between the University and individual schools.

Upon completion, graduates are eligible to teach in a major and minor area of study in secondary schools in both the private and government sector, and will meet the highest standards in personal ethics and practice which the profession demands.
